

Glam Nouveau

Audra Siao and Stephanie Hamilton of Design Theory Studio transformed the master bathroom in a La Jolla home by freshening up all the materials and redesigning the space to offer amazing views of Mission Bay and the coastline. The new layout allows for a much larger shower and more functional counter space with double sinks. A freestanding tub in front of the windows opens up the room and adds visual interest. At the end of the tub, a built-in custom linen cabinet offers additional storage, as well as a slim, modern TV for direct viewing from the tub. To satisfy their client's love of delicate patterns and glitz, the design duo features made-to-order flooring with a perfectly scaled marble stone mosaic pattern, creating a dynamic impact in the room. On one wall, a combination of hand-cut white marble mixed with white gold glass perfectly complements the patterned flooring. A custom-scaled ribbed cabinet door design is finished in a grey high-gloss lacquer to ground the room as well as add some shine. designtheorystudio.com
